

The present location of ordnance made in Falkirk: Smooth Bore Muzzle Loading (SBML)

The following table presents the current known location of over 170 pieces of ordnance made at the either the Carron Iron Works or at the Falkirk Iron Works. There will be many more out there and we would appreciate it if you could contact us to let us know the presence of any others – or to provide us with photographs.

Serial numbers were allocated to guns at Carron as they were cast, irrespective of their type or model. This was usually placed on the left hand trunnion, with "CARRON" below it, and the year of manufacture below that. The right trunnion bore the calibre of the gun, such as "32P" for a 32-pounder. Most of the carronades did not have trunnions and in this case the details were placed on the underside – those formally on the left trunnion occurring on the quoin patch and the poundage on top of the joint mounting bush. Not all carronades were made at Carron and so only those confirmed to have originated at the works there are included in this list. There are many carronades in Canada but as most of these are mounted for display purposes the quoin patch is not readily available for inspection.

Altogether Carron Company despatched 52,170 pieces of ordnance of which 22,591 were carronades. Production had started with the lower calibres and so these tend to skew the statistics. Between 1772 and 1793 it had produced 1,890 swivels and 724 Cohorns. Between 1772 and 1775 alone some 24 howitzers and 348 mortars were cast (of which 156 were put down as foreign – i.e. to another country's design). The statistics for the Falkirk Iron Company are not available.

An artillery register for all ordnance in Australia has been begun by Royal Australian Artillery Historical Company.

Similarly Harold Skaarup has produced a massive book online for material in Canada and this is being extended to USA, Ireland and Portugal – see “Artillery preserved in Canada”.
